

Together elevating health

Together, we can reach new heights in health and well-being by delivering what people want, what humanity needs, and what our planet deserves.

We bring progress to life

Together elevating health

We're all about helping people unlock life's possibilities, explore their passions, grow up strong, and recover faster – without compromising the future of our planet.

When it comes to the ongoing pursuit of total well-being, inspiring smarter choices around nutrition, health and care can shape how consumers think, feel, and act. However, we realize navigating this exciting shift in health can't be done alone. At dsm-firmenich, we believe the best progress for humanity happens when we work together.

"Making the world a healthier place takes more than ingredients.

That's why we support our partners at every stage of their journey to deliver health, nutrition, and care products that resonate today and in the future. Together, we can champion innovations that elevate patient and consumer health at every life stage."

Philip Eykerman
President
Health, Nutrition and Care

Who are we? We're a team of cutting-edge scientists, breakthrough innovators, and passionate creators, with a heritage spanning over 150 years and counting.

And we want to create bigger, better growth opportunities with you. Together, we can blaze new trails in health, nutrition, and care, making a positive impact on our world and enhancing the lives of people everywhere.

Along with our science-backed ingredients, broad expert services, and unmatched customized solutions, our complete, end-to-end partnership offering puts us in a category of one. This means an unrivalled capability to overcome product development challenges and streamline business operations, elevating essential products into desirable solutions that consumers and patients truly value. All while bringing our purpose-led sustainability mindset to help safeguard people and planet.

Now that's the dsm-firmenich difference.

Standing up for sustainability

For us, sustainability isn't just a buzzword – it's central to our goal of making the world a healthier place.

We firmly believe in striking a balance between what people want, what we collectively need, and what the planet demands.

Onward to net-zero

We're doing our part to make it easier for our customers and end-users to do theirs. For us, standing up for sustainability means being transparent about our climate impact. That involves:

- Minimizing our environmental impact across the supply chain.
- Creating new products using eco-friendly ingredients, like algal-sourced omega-3s, that put the health of people and planet first.
- Providing accurate, science-based information to help you meet sustainability results through our in-house Life Cycle Assessment (LCA) expertise and easy-to-understand tools, such as our Imp'Act Card and Solution Imp'Act Calculator.

Making our world a healthier place

Let's scale new heights with expert-powered innovations that are more nutritious, taste great, and perform better.

We're here to champion smarter approaches to fuel the lifelong, proactive journey towards total well-being. Across all the markets we serve, we go the extra mile to help our partners create standout solutions consumers and patients choose – time and time again.

Dietary Supplements

Consumers want holistic health solutions that complement their modern, fast-paced lifestyles. We deliver breakthrough innovations that inspire them to make health a priority.

- Our latest Health from the Gut solutions are the keys to unlocking the microbiome's vast potential. Powered by an ecosystem approach that supports and preserves the key pillars of the gut microbiome, our Humiome® biotics portfolio delivers diverse, science-based health benefits beyond digestive health. Plus our Humiome® Post LB ingredient is the most clinically studied postbiotic on the market, backed by over 40 scientific publications.
- Humiome® B2, our next-generation colon-delivered vitamin that's powered by proprietary Microbiome Targeted Technology™ (MTT™), nourishes the microbiome to support gut and holistic health.
- We're collectively driving the transition to algal omega-3s with life's® OMEGA – the first algal-sourced omega-3 that is more sustainable than fish oil and naturally contains twice the amount of EPA and DHA. It provides the same heart, brain, eye, and immune health benefits – all while scaling with our planet's growing population.

Early Life Nutrition

Life's healthier when it's supported from the beginning. We give babies the best start in life by advancing maternal and infant nutrition to set a strong foundation for health and development in the first 1,000 days of life.

- How do we bring infant nutrition closer to breast milk? Our broad portfolio of eight top-quality human milk oligosaccharides (HMOs) supports overall infant growth, brain health, and a healthy gut microbiome.
- We're always building stronger strategic partnerships that help power combinations of leading science-based ingredients to deliver proven health benefits for the infant microbiome and brain development. For example, our partnership with Lallemand Health Solutions to launch new synergistic synbiotic solutions that support the development of the infant immune system and gut microbiome.
- To support happier pregnancies, our softchew format for life's®DHA is the latest consumer-friendly maternal nutrition offering that provides the largest dose of docosahexaenoic acid (DHA) in one capsule.

Nutrition Improvement

Let's tackle global malnutrition. We expand public-private collaboration and push for high-quality nutrition interventions at scale, with solutions for essential and equitable nutrition that offer convenience and efficacy.

- We can fortify all staple foods with our expertise in R&D and applications. Plus, we focus on supporting economic development with local support for in-country production.
- When it comes to affordable Multiple Micronutrient Supplements (MMS) for pregnant and lactating women in low- and middle-income countries, our production footprint is the largest in the world. In fact, we're the only company with 36 months of UNICEF gold standard stability data and on-continent production in Africa, Latin America and Asia.
- While working together with our partners to make cost effective nutrition solutions accessible to all, we've also set a strong track record in tackling malnutrition through innovation. Beyond the usual emergency and therapeutic foods and ingredients, we're exploring new ways to add proteins, tastes, or flavors to fortified rice.

Medical Nutrition

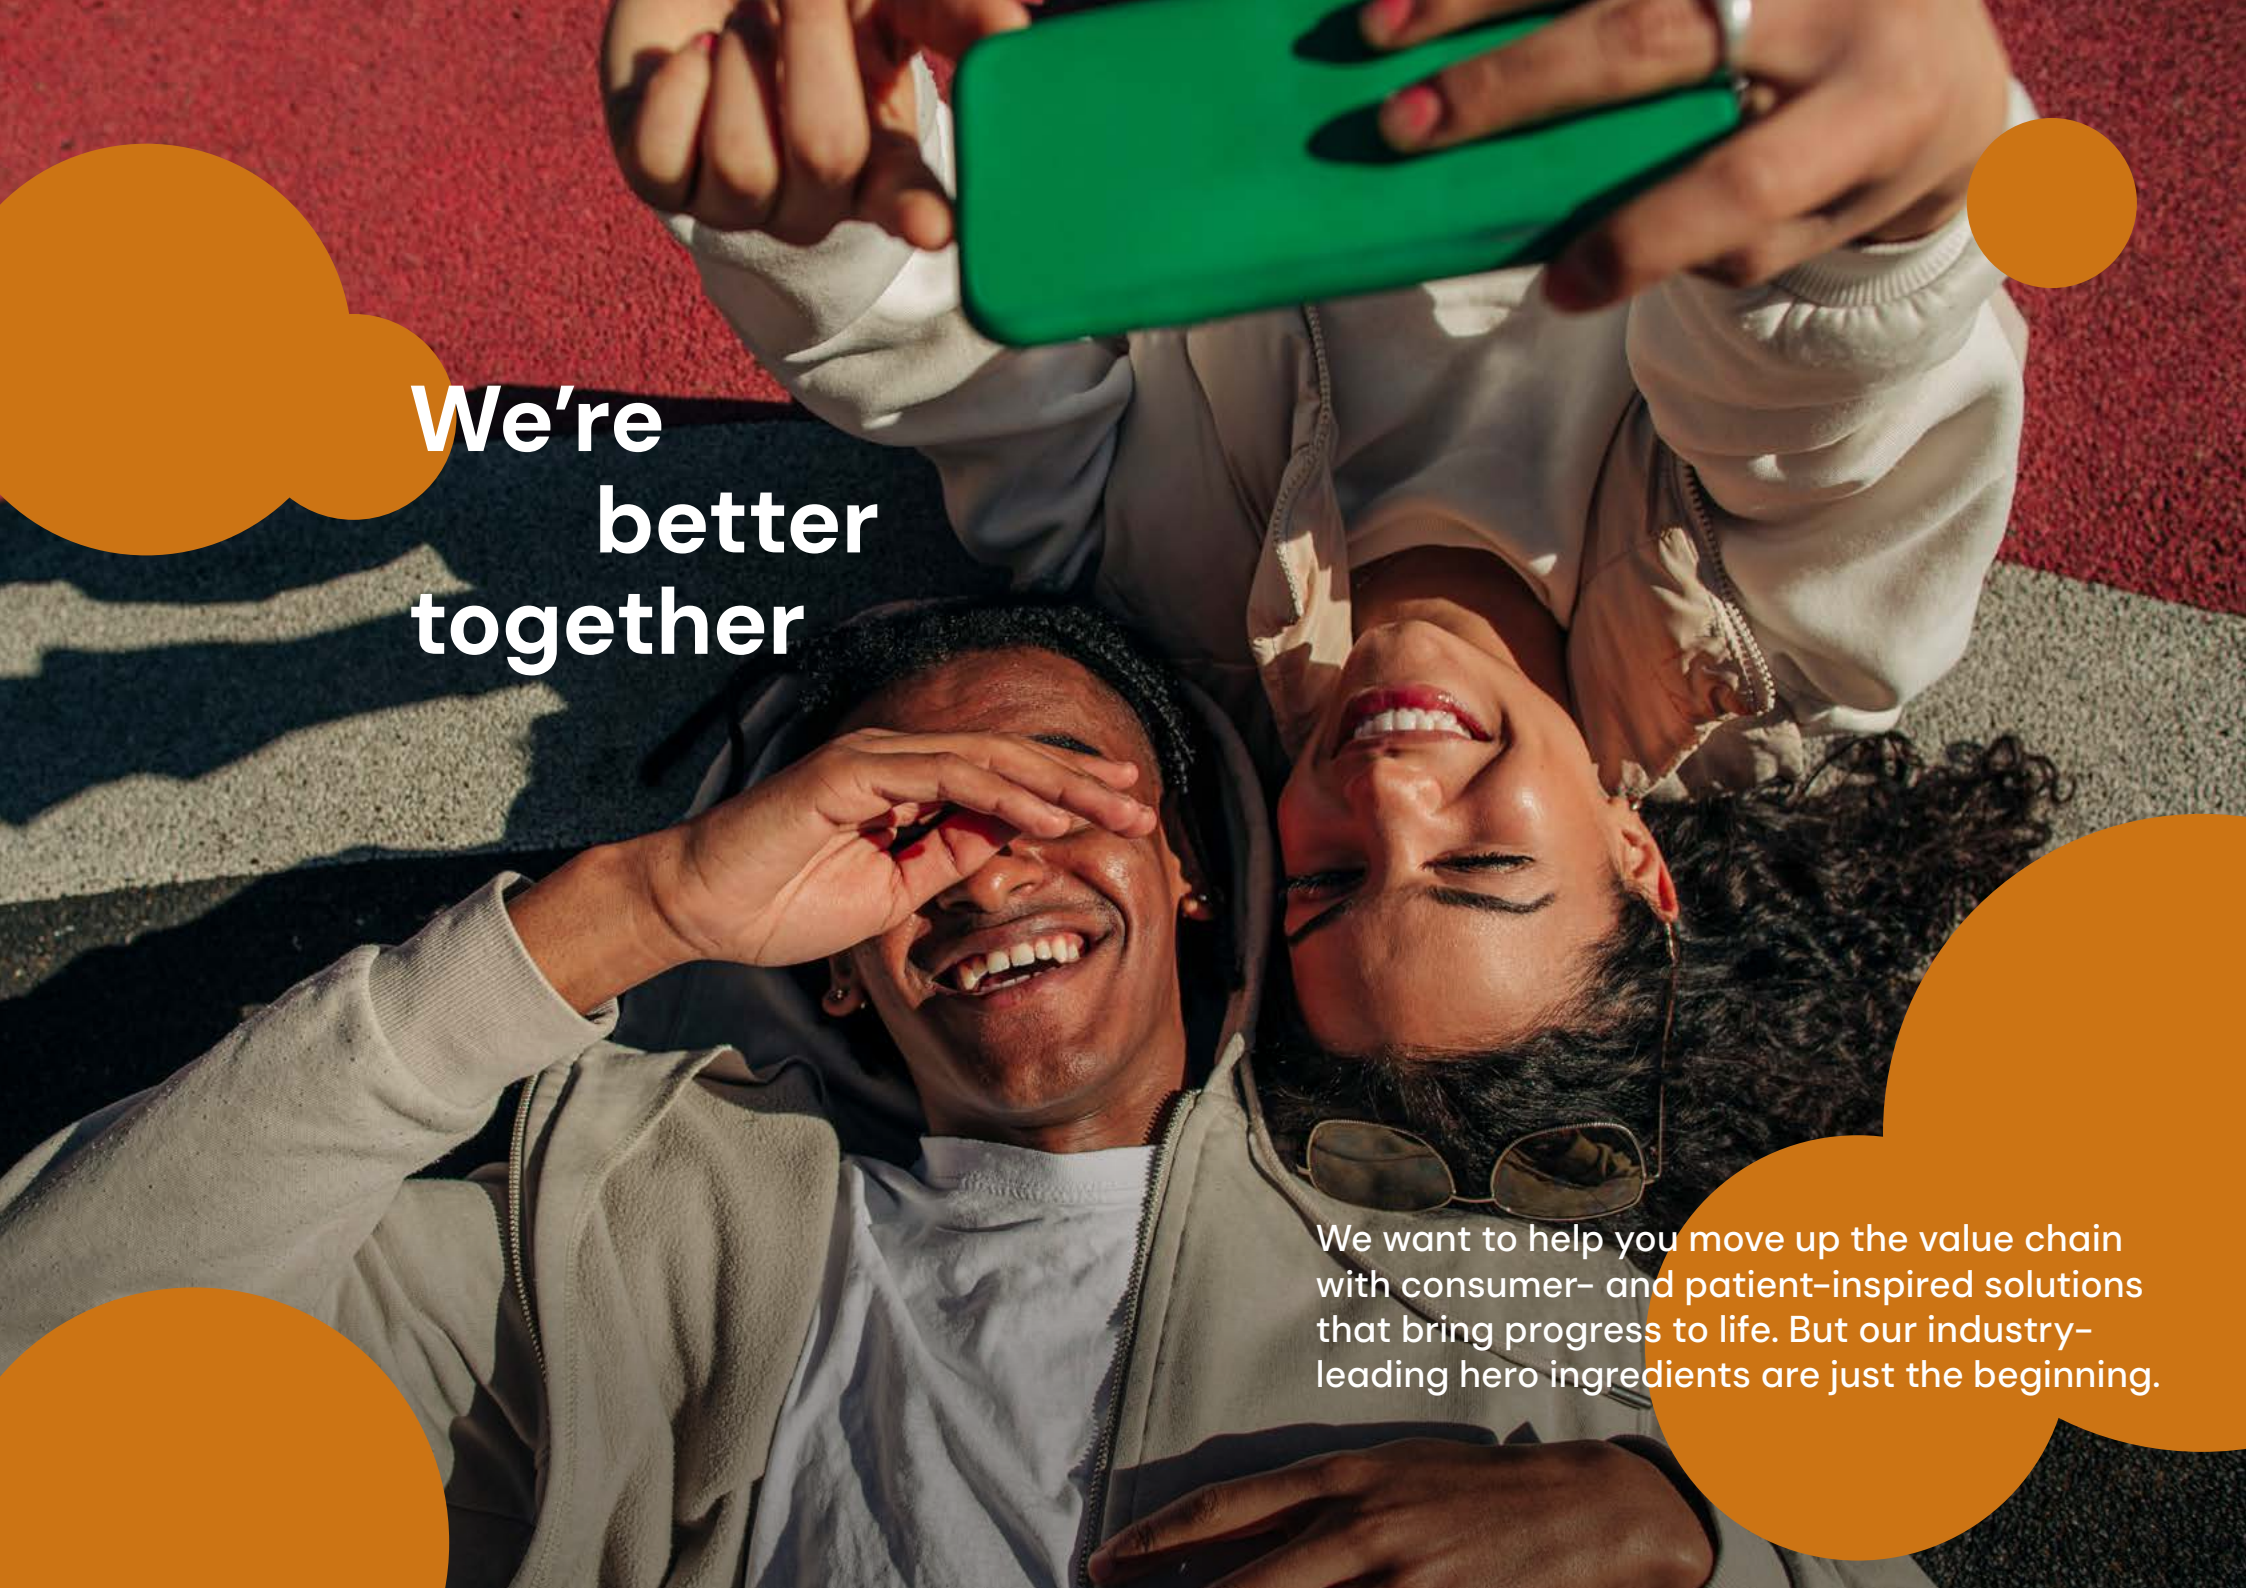

For seniors and individuals living with medical conditions, we support recovery and independence with tailored solutions that address nutritional shortfalls in specific health states.

- From wound healing to sarcopenia and cancer cachexia, our science-based concepts are targeted for specific conditions and powered by premix solutions, flavor tonalities, and sensorial solutions for better palatability.
- How are we pioneering sustainability in medical nutrition? Our plant-based protein is a key component in products that support muscle and bone health, while our algal-based nutritional lipids help support brain, immunity, and musculoskeletal health.
- Taking our purpose-led approach to innovation, we explore novel formats to support patient compliance while accommodating individual dietary routines.

Pharma Solutions

Create better medicines, faster. Beyond high-quality pharmaceutical ingredients and specialty excipients, we develop new delivery formats to improve treatment options and patient compliance.

- Our customers always come first. That means services tailored to your specific needs and reliable access to comprehensive dossiers and expert quality, regulatory, and sustainability services for a broad portfolio of high-quality ingredients.
- Improve patient compliance and convenience with our next-generation cannabidiol (CBD) drug intermediate – CBtru®. It's designed for oral solid dosage forms, with higher API loading and optimized bioavailability.
- Taste the difference. Backed by years of research into the science of taste perception, our portfolio of flavor and taste solutions for solid and liquid drug products support better patient compliance.
